1969 Elms

Nearly a century has passed since Elmhurst students first strolled beneath the spreading branches of stately elms.

*Since the founding of our alma mater,
the school has witnessed,
as well as experienced,
the hand of time
which has dealt kindly and generously with our campus.*

*Thus a changing Elmhurst
is not a new phenomenon,
but the accelerated pace
and momentous magnitude of the changing Elmhurst of 1968-1969
are indeed unique in comparison with developments of previous years.*

Homecoming

Broadway, in all it's musical-comedy song and glamour, descended upon the Elmhurst mall with the 1968 Homecoming "Broadway Our Way." From the theatre department's Forum in the gymnasium to Lehmann Hall's winning float, "Carousel," the campus emulated the Great White Way. Friend 'n Lover shattered the Chapel crowd on Friday night, the stalwart Jays sought a victory on Saturday afternoon and Ronnie Rodgers serenaded dancers at the Student Ball that evening. Reigning over the weekend's alumni strewn activities, Queen Pat Johnson and her court were at their loveliest.

Christmas

As is true everyplace else, there was a flourish of activity on campus during the Christmas season. The Annual Festival of Lessons and Carols was presented in Hammerschmidt Memorial Chapel, with Polyhymnia and Glee Club providing the musical selections. The College Union Multi-purpose area came alive at the sounds of the Christmas Cabaret, complete with band and even Santa's helpers. Santa was present at the Annual Dinkmeyer Christmas Party to receive gifts from various groups on campus. These were just a few of the events that surrounded the EC campus during the holiday season.

The weekend before Spring Vacation was devoted to Elmhurst's male population and was for many a Bachelor's Holiday. From Thursday night's Variety Show through the activities of the Midwest Jazz Festival and culminating at the fantasy-inspired "Alice in Wonderland" dance, the wallets of Elmhurst men enjoyed a unique period as untoachable.

Centennial Consultation

In anticipation of its 100th anniversary in 1971, EC held a Centennial Consultation meeting in mid March. About 130 persons attended, including members of the Board of Trustees, The President's Council of Business Associates, alumni, Elmhurst residents, faculty and administrative representatives, students and parents. Small consultation groups met to discuss topics of interest and also heard three EC grads speak on "Reminiscing."

Latin American Studies Conference

During the week of April 21-25, the first International Studies Conference on Latin America was held at Elmhurst. An event of national interest, the conference received the attention of Washington dignitaries and the endorsement of Illinois Governor Richard Ogilvie. On campus, primary sponsorship came from Pi Gamma Mu, social science honorary, and Epsilon Chi, an affiliate of Tau Kappa Epsilon.

Black Arts Festival

The first Black Arts Festival held at Elmhurst was arranged by the Concerned Black Students in order to present programming particularly relevant to the Black students at E.C. Among the weekend's events were an Afro-fashion show, various Afro-derived music form presentations and discussions, geared to black contributions in the plastic and literary art forms.

S.G.A. EXECUTIVE BOARD: Stu Holman, treasurer; Ken Wyant, president; Marilyn Walton, vice chairman of Union Board; Dave Rota, chairman of Union Board; Phyllis Schoewe, secretary; Wayne Kennedy, vice-president.

Student Government Association

In the fall of 1968, students were appointed by S.G.A. to previously strictly faculty committees. This move was indicative of the increasing participation of Elmhurst students in the actual operation of the college and in the establishment of policies and procedures. In another action, it was decided to receive student government office nominations solely through petitions rather than a nominating committee; thus any tacit "endorsement" was eliminated. Still another successful endeavor of the S.G.A. occurred in the form of the March Leadership Retreat held at Green Lake Wisconsin. However, the thwarted elections brought the S.G.A. activities to a rather abrupt stand still and many problems concerning 1969-1970 programming and budgeting ensued.

Cultural- Intellectual Life

A numerous and varied array of programs were offered by the Cultural-Intellectual Life Committee. In the way of music, the Madrigals of Venice, the Cologne Chamber Orchestra, and the refreshingly amusing, as well as gifted, Los Indios Tabajaras. As for speakers, Ralph de Tolendano, Stanley Kauffmann, and Frank S. Meyer brought their noted abilities before the Elmhurst community in the lecture series. Last but not least, the C-I film series presented movies on Tuesdays and Fridays; "Macbeth," "Jules and Jim," and "The Grapes of Wrath" were among the crowd-drawers.

Social Life

With a Homecoming concert starring "Friend 'n Lover," Social Life, under the chairmanship of Dean Roberts, opened its season. Besides offering a variety of concerts to the campus community, the Social-Life Committee sponsored popular films. "Born Free," "Alfie," and "The Carpetbaggers" were among the winners which packed the SCA to capacity.

Religious Life

S.T.O.P

Another Union Board Committee, Religious Life, directed by David Jerger, presented a lecture series which included such diverse speakers as writer William Stringfellow. Religious Life also collaborated with S. T. O. P., Students to Terminate Over Population and Pollution, in presenting such noted speakers as Dr. Paul Ehrlich. S. T. O. P. then became a subcommittee of Student Senate and went on to sponsor a hunger strike in order to bring the problem of world hunger to the attention of EC students.

Young Republicans

YAF

The Young Americans for Freedom were active in 1968-69 in the area of political programming with a predominantly conservative ideology. The group sponsored such educational activities as films on current issues and political personalities, informal lectures and discussions dealing with unusual topics such as political assassination, and a right-left debate on the Viet Nam War which pitted Robert Turner against Rennie Davis. Leaders of YAF for 1968-69 were William Mencarow and Joseph Heniff.

The Young Republicans provided a political outlet and experience for Elmhurst students of G. O. P. persuasion. In the campaign of the fall of 1968 the Young Republicans participated whole-heartedly in the efforts behind Richard Nixon's bid for the presidency as well as local candidates. Sue Elenz served as president of the group.

Seven new names were added to the elite roster of the Men's Honorary this year, while the Women's Honorary found itself tapping sixteen members of the junior class. Members of the organization are selected on the basis of scholarship, leadership and major contributions to the college. With the addition of this year's members, Men's Honorary will be seeking recognition by Omicron Delta Kappa, a national men's honor society. The Men's Honorary also sponsored what became known as the Kaffee Klatch. These Klatches provided a chance for students and faculty to get together and become better acquainted.

Recognized on dress-up occasions by their green emblemed blazers, the Brotherhood of Squires continued to serve the college and community as a service organization. Abiding by tradition, the Squires pledge class was burdened with yellow bricks and instructed to seek "autographs" of Squire regulars. The Squires also fulfilled duties as ushers and as "door-to-door" charity representatives. A new service was offered Elmhurst students in the Squire-sponsored First Aid course.

Praetors

In their second year of existence at Elmhurst, the brotherhood of Praetors grew both in numbers and prominence. Following their stated purpose to serve the campus socially, the Praetors sponsored dances with such groups as the "Flock" and the "Proper Strangers" which enlivened several weekends. They also provided car-owning students with a utilitarian service by way of the Pledge Class car washes, and enhanced the Homecoming mall scene with a prize-winning float.

Adelphae

The Sisterhood of the Adelphae sponsored many activities and service projects throughout the year. During first semester the Adelphae organized the campus-wide "Ugly Man" contest. The "Ugly Man" with the most votes, Jim Templin, reigned over the dance of the same theme. A service gesture in conjunction with the Praetors was the Birthday Dinner served to campus residents at the dining tables. Later during the year the Adelphae sponsored the Best Dressed Girl contest. The 1968-69 President was Charlie Hall.

WRSE

The college radio station, WRSE-FM, functioned as a vital medium on the campus of a changing Elmhurst. Broadcasting from the newly constructed production studio, the station offered an admirable roster of varied programming by Elmhurst students. Beyond such basic operations, the staff sponsored the WRSE party and the hilariously successful Roller Derby. Steering the station were Bob Rodriguez and Bob McGehee as station manager, John Daubenspeck, program director, and Bob Faerber, chief engineer.

Elms

Nancy puts the damper on a staff meeting disrupted by Karen Dauster and Peg Waara.

"Variety" is the only word that comes close to capsuling the activities indulged in by the Elms Staff. Under the tutelage of editor, Nancy Stephens, the staff affected smooth transitions from layouts to typing, scheduling pictures and writing copy. Adopting a refined professional perfection in journalism as their unanimous ideal, the Elms Staff shared laughs and endured painful error — circumvention amid the weekly shuffling of pictures and inevitable approach of section deadlines. At all times, the Elms Staff strove to represent a "Changing Elmhurst" in an expanded, more colorful annual.

Elm Bark

Tuesdays at Elmhurst College meant the noon-time arrival of the school paper, the Elm Bark. Despite the perennial accusations of mediocrity, the Elm Bark copies were rapidly claimed and the cafeteria at lunch became an inverted parquet of papers. Indeed, the March 18th issue became a collectors' item; its controversial cartoon and unprecedented theatre review ignited heated opinions. As spring approached, editor John Bizer resigned in a thoughtful editorial and named Bob Ullman as his successor.

Opera Workshop

One of the more publicized interim offerings, the opera workshop, was jointly conducted by the music and speech departments. In addition to concentrated studies of opera as an art form born of choral and dramatic stage forms, the course geared itself toward its public performance of Mozart's "Marriage of Figaro," an impressive consummation of Elmhurst's first interim.

“Mother Courage”

Under the charismatic direction of Garry Colburn, Bertholt Brecht’s “Mother Courage” was staged in March while preparations were being made for the grand opening of the Mill Theater. When it housed performances of student-directed one-acts in May, the Mill was used as a theater for the first time.

The fifty piece Elmhurst College Band, under the direction of James Sorensen, professor of music, had an active year. In addition to performing an annual spring concert, the band also made a short tour of Wisconsin. Spectators at the Homecoming game got their first glimpse of the Marching Band, as Mr. Dale Hamilton put them through their paces and directed their formations. Members of the Stage Band were entered in the competition at the Annual Mid-West Jazz Festival sponsored by E.C. Marilyn Walton took first place in vocal division and went on to national competition.

Polyhymnia

During the year the Polyhymnia Women's Chorus sang many concerts in the Chicago area and also on a north-eastern tour. Noteworthy concerts on campus during the year for Poly were for the Homecoming Chapel Service, the Candlelight Christmas Service, and the Poly-Glee Club Concert on Parent's Weekend. The specialty groups of Poly are the quartet and the interpretive choir. Poly's repertoire of secular and sacred music included such pieces as The Miserere by Hasse and the German folk song "Gute Nacht". Poly was sad to hear of the retirement of Mrs. Viola Repp from the directorship of the chorus after twenty years of devotion to the "Poly girls".

Glee Club

The Men's Glee Club, formed in 1894, is the oldest organization on campus. Under the direction of Mr. David Austin, the Club enjoys singing both sacred and secular music. The Club provides music on campus for various chapel services, and presents a joint concert with the Polyhymnia in May. In addition to Lenten and Christmas concerts in the Chicago area, the group goes on an annual ten day tour in the spring.

Choir

Membership in the College Choir, which is under the direction of Dr. T. Howard Krueger, is open to all students on campus. Also included in the Choir are members of the Chapel Bell Ringers, who are directed by Marguerite Hinchley. In addition to their annual spring tour, the Choir also made an annual winter tour and made other public appearances at area churches during the Lenten season. During the month of January, Choir also made a T.V. appearance as the guest choir on the "Sunday Evening Club" broadcast from Orchestra Hall.

Cheerleaders

As the 1968-69 athletic season drew to a close, the eight cheerleaders were left with many unforgettable memories: the thrill of victory and the bitter taste of defeat. There were good times: the Carthage game and the party at Racine (by invitation only), the numerous "dinner delights" and pep rallies by torch-light. Who could forget Rumble Beat in the bathroom at the football party? However, there were bad times too, like the heartbreak of a losing football season, and struggling for money for new uniforms. Yet, they managed to do their job, to instill a little school spirit in the Elmhurst students. The Shout-Down at North Central College shows the emotions that can be obtained with a little enthusiasm. Long live the cries of "We don't mess around, hey!"

Coffee House

The Harbinger Coffee House has become a place for EC students to relax, converse, study, dance, listen to music — a place to discover there are things to do when you have nothing else to do. Folk music this year was provided by EC students as well as other members of the Coffee House Circuit. In addition to folk music, discussions, films, and poetry readings were sponsored by the "Inner Space."

Junior Dinner-Dance

Within the elegance of the Grand Ballroom at the Hotel Knickerbocker, the Junior Dinner-Dance was one of the most successful endeavors of the year. Tuxedos and formals spiced the early May air as did the romance sparked by boutonnieres and corsages. Greetings were forwarded to those attending by M.C. Dave Hagerbaumer and Teri Calkins was crowned 1969 Prom Queen. The mood created by dance music and changing colored lights persisted as most couples ended their evening by attending a late performance at the Happy Medium.

Spring Weekend

Traditionally planned for mid-May, spring weekend festivities lure both parents and alumni. The annual E.I.I. started the weekend with a fifth place win for EC trackmen. "Uncle Pete" was honored at both the meet and alumni banquet. An open house in the Speech Clinic provided an opportunity to view methods and facilities.

The annual Poly-Glee Club Concert was enlivened by skits, specialty numbers and marked the end of Mrs. Viola Repp's career with her Poly girls. A Sunday afternoon band concert preceded the Honor's Day reception in the College Union lounge. Later at the Honor's Banquet, Dr. William Barclay received the Distinguished Faculty Award.

Baccalaureate

A chilly Sunday morning began the day of graduation for the Class of 1969. Chapel bells announced the Baccalaureate Service and the "Triumphal March from Aida" pealed during the Commencement Processional.

Athletics

Football

The 1968 football season began with a let-down opening defeat to Millikin, but Bluejay optimism remained strong. An "elephant" backfield of junior Mike Marsico and freshmen David Greenstein and Bob Wick formed Coach Harris' power block. Yet, a Jay victory continued to evade the team, despite star performances by Rick Dorney and Mike McCargo during the Carroll game. Hopes ran high for a seventh consecutive Homecoming victory and the Jays led North Park 12-0 until the second quarter. The Jays scored no more, however, while the Vikings racked up 28 points. Now, the finger pointed to a winless season. It remained memorable as the final season for co-captain, Scott Mernitz, who participated in Jay victories over his four-year career.

Coach Walter Schousen began his thirteenth coaching season with Jon Hawthorne as assistant. Hopes ran high with returning lettermen Keith Schram, David Moyer and E.C.'s Most Valuable Player and last season's leading conference rebounder, Jim Peters, again on the court. However, the opening games were disappointing defeats and the spirit of the fans seemed fated to diminish. Yet the season's end was brightened by several astonishing victories; the epitome being the "Shutdown" victory over North Central on February 24th's closing game.

Elmhurst, after a three year lapse, put a full wrestling team on the mats. Grappling, however, had its ups and downs and the season concluded in mediocrity. Yet the team did not lack powerful matmen and Don "Otto" Elfvin, Dave "Bear" Krepel, and Mike Marsico displayed note-worthy ability. Thus, due to commendable strategy on the parts of individual team members, the team placed second in the Millikin Invitational, sixth in North Central Invitational, ninth at Wheaton, and eighth in the College Conference of Illinois and Wisconsin.

	EC — 8th place
May 17	EII
	EC — 5th place

In mid-April the EC track team took part in their first meet of the season, taking second place in a quadrangular meet against Lewis, North Park and Olivet. Adding to the strength of the team were runners Engman, Menzel, Bizer, Radzilowsky, and Hall, pole vaulter Tom Schmidt, high jumper Bergman, and discus throwers Fantozzi and Filipski. Also joining the team this year were outstanding freshmen Jemison, Edwards and McCord.

Elmhurst Intercollegiate Invitational

Saturday, May 17, the 35th Annual Elmhurst Intercollegiate Invitational Track and Field Meet was held in the misty gloom of the Elmhurst athletic field. Twenty-two midwestern schools from five states participated either in division A or division B. When the afternoon's final results were in, Elmhurst finished fifth in Division B. This encouraging climax was largely due to strong performances by Steve Filipski in discus, Tom Schmidt in pole vault, Harry McCord in long jump and the relay team of Greg Fantozzi, Harry McCord, Mike Edwards, and John Engman. Gracing the festivities was Queen Kay Kupper and her court.

Backed by pitchers Dave Victor, Barney Schultz, Louis Miceli and Jim Brusveen, the EC Bluejays began another season of baseball. The Jays traveled to Maryville, Tennessee to win their first game 9-6. With the help of Coach Jon Hawthorne, the team was able to sweep twinbills from North Park, Carthage and North Central. Augustana and Illinois Wesleyan proved to be EC's most formidable opponents. The team finished the season with 12 wins and 10 losses.

Golf

Four lettermen and eight other hopefuls banded together under the watchful eyes of Spud Owen to form the EC Bluejay golf team. Despite strong showings by individual members, the team has not been able to keep their over-all scores as low as they would have preferred. Coach Owen cites inexperience as the main reason for the team's losses.

With Ed Ward making his debut as coach this year, the EC Men's Tennis team took on teams from the CCIW, as well as non-conference teams. Despite a good showing by team members Holman and Wyant, the final record for the netmen shows only one win against nine losses. The Women's team fared some better, playing to a tie with Lake Forest and making an excellent showing at the Millikin Invitational.

Art

Descending upon the city of Chicago for its classroom during interim, the art department endured the cruel elements in search of aesthetic restitution. The department welcomed Mr. John Weber to its undaunted ranks and proudly offered a major in art for the first time.

Mr. James Sorensen, center left

Mr. Paul Westermeyer, center

Music

Arias from "The Marriage of Figaro" broke the crisp, chill January air as the opera workshop steered toward a public performance of Mozart's classic. Another feather was stuck in the hat of the music department which, as always, "coached" our several musical organizations, chaperoned successful tours, and was joined this year by Mr. Sorensen and Mr. Westermeyer.

Mr. David John Payne, left

Education is irrevocably dependent upon communication. Oral communication is demanded from students and faculty alike, and it is the speech department alone that seeks to better oral discourse. From the fundamentals through the diversified upper level courses, the speech department refines our expression and strengthens our presentation.

Speech

Drama

In the rumbling wake of the Northwestern railroad, the drama department happily creates scenery and designs costumes in their spacious quarters at the Mill Theatre. Besides staging and presenting Elmhurst Theatre productions, the drama students try their hands at directing with one-act plays in the spring and present oral interpretations readings at the Harbinger.

Mrs. Linda Lee Ruffolo, left

French

With open-armed Gallic warmth, the French department opened its New French novel interim offering to non-French speaking students and thus made available to all Elmhurst a pertinent literature course. Equal warmth was extended to new instructor, Monsieur des Cartiers.

German and Russian

Three new faces composed the German department this year and the new professors sought to continue the long-standing affinity between the German language and Elmhurst College. At the same time, the incorporation of Russian into the modern language offerings reflected the contemporary need for world understanding.

Dr. Marie Wellington, top*

Spanish

Maintaining its rank as a popular language offering, Spanish instructed students in a language and culture dominating the Iberian peninsula and the South American continent as well as a good portion of North America. Not to be forgotten are the Spanish-speaking minorities in our own urban areas.

Classics

The stalwart columns of crumbling temples and the Blue Aegean no longer were confined to Homer's epics for the Elmhurst students who flew to Greece for a study tour. Rev. Williams served as guide on this exceptional interim offering. Latin studies grew once again under Mrs. Levine.

Mrs. Marjorie Levine, right

Mr. David S. Lindberg, far right

Political Science

In this past fall of campaigns and elections, the presence of an ever-changing world became immediate to a changing Elmhurst. The political science department, for one, must be responsive to and cognizant of such changes and indeed, the department's interim offerings simply reflected such an awareness.

Dr. Rudolf G. Schade, top left

History

History may deal with the past, but the history department was commendably aware of the present. Joined this year by Mr. Burdick, the department launched courses concerned with the black race and black nations at interim. Under the chairmanship of Dr. Schade, the history department continued to capsule man's saga on earth.

Religion and Theology

Recognizing the major problems created by a changing world, the religion department scaled the shaded lanes of Elmhurst for the less inviting streets and alleys of the inner city. The Servant and the City interim course provided students with an admittedly brief but undeniably poignant contact with the wider world served by the church.

Philosophy

In a changing world and a changing Elmhurst, a vital concern is justly devoted to thought and theory. In turn, the philosophy department directed its attention to these always timely realms of thought and theory in interim offerings like The Ideal Society and Theory of Justice as well as the numerous semester pursuits.

Mrs. Mary Ann Erwin, bottom right

English

Laughter was explored and indulged in the "What is Comedy?" interim course offered by the English department. However, when the spring semester ground along, English students joined the whole campus in succumbing to "the uncertain glory of an April day," detected by William Shakespeare in Elizabethan England. Such is the eternal universality of English, and all great literature as taught by the English department.

Mr. Arnold E. Davidson, bottom right

Dr. Ervin H. Schmidt, center

Mr. Frederick G. Tyrell, right

Education

Taking the future teachers to "where it's at," the education department travelled to urban-suburban school systems during interim. Justifiable attention was also devoted to the new audio-visual equipment located in Old Main 22. The former male bastion of instruction welcomed Miss Heidinger to their ranks.

Mr. Alfred S. Moser, top

Psychology

The "arena" of such institutions as Hines Veterans' Hospital served as the valuable field experience positions occupied by psychology students. Asserting itself as a socially directed discipline, psychology masterfully bridged the gap between the classroom and the world.

Dr. Jack D. Holbrook

Sociology

A social science if there ever was one, sociology deals with man and his society. By instructing people in how to deal with people, the sociology department strives to pave the way to a world in which human dignity will be of prime importance and society will serve rather than hinder mankind.

Mr. Earl R. Elledge, top left

Economics

Concerned with the economic awareness of underclassmen and upperclassmen alike, the economics department offered introductory courses to the labyrinth of economic problems confronting today's world as well as depth courses which focus on key issues.

Mr. Steve E. Kontos, top right

Mr. Joseph F. McManus, bottom center

Business Administration

In the liberal arts tradition at Elmhurst, an exception was made in deference to practicality with the inclusion of a department of business administration. Offering a progression of courses geared to the successful entry into the business world, the department serves a unique function in preparing students for the work-a-day world.

Mathematics

Mr. Keith A. Failon, top right

Mrs. Mary Hart Zink, bottom right

In this era of the New Math, the Elmhurst mathematics department decided to take a breather from their constant involvement with new math trends during interim. At this time, the history of math was viewed in retrospect and, as a result, a better understanding of math as we know it was attained.

Geography

The geography department continued to expand its course offerings under the groupings of regional systematic and technique courses. From the popular physical geography sections to the more challenging cartography, a progressive spirit was evident; the new weather station is a fine case in point.

Chemistry

The test-tube age is very much in evidence on the campus of a changing Elmhurst. Under the guidance of the chemistry department, the ever-advancing and consistently more complex world of the laboratory prepares students in the search for a better world through chemistry.

Physics

Recognizing the value inherent in purposeful transfer of knowledge, the physics department proposed an interdisciplinary confrontation with the role of mathematics in science. By calling upon math, chemistry and physics majors to jointly approach the issue, the physics department made a commendably significant adaptation of interim innovation.

Mr. Gilbert K. Boese

Biology

The windswept acres and the aromatic confines of the animal houses of Brookfield Zoo served as first-hand observatories for biology students of animal behavior in January's interim. This course is indicative of the biology department's constant adoption of new and instructive methods and equipment.

Mr. Kenneth Spiroff, left*

Mr. Wendell Harris, top right

Physical Education

Continuing to provide Elmhurst students with valued and varied service courses, the physical education department this year was able to offer a major born of a complex line of theory and method courses. Mr. Hawthorne and Mr. Ulrich joined the department to aid in implementation of this new program.

SENIORS

The four years that loomed so long in September of 1965 had vanished, and the seniors wondered whether they really wanted to leave. Had they lived "the best years of their lives" already or were they yet to come? With optimism, the class of 1969, under president Hugh Studebaker, vice-president Carl Follstad, secretary Leslie Anderson, and treasurer John Rooney, left their mark on E.C. and decided to take on the world.

JUNIORS

After two years of required courses and introductions to almost every department, the juniors, under the leadership of president Michael Radzilowsky, vice-president Merlanne Price, secretary Sandra Janowiak, and treasurer Jane Criss, selected majors of value to their futures. On May 2, the Junior Dinner-Dance was returned to a downtown hotel and "A Toast to the City" was held in the Knickerbocker. A midnight show followed at Happy Medium.

SOPHOMORES

FRESHMEN

"Here's to our Alma Mater . . ." The singing-clapping of the fight song rang out and another freshman class made it through orientation. The future was made hectically confusing by the rigors of a first registration and the onslaught of first semester finals. To those who returned for a happy new year, a future at Elmhurst became more secure. The class was led by Karl Pitts, president, Tom Clouser, vice-president, and Beverly McKenney, secretary-treasurer.
